Bay man found hanged 3 mon. before hearing

BY LIZ HAAS

Victim's Voice, an inmate-advocacy group, is pushing the Justice Department to investigate the death of Parchman inmate Cedric Walker, 21, of Bay St. Louis.

Walker was up for a parole hearing in October and planned to come home and marry the mother of his son, according to a family friend.

He was found hanged in his cell by a rope made of braided pieces of sheet on Saturday. Officials continue to investigate the case.

Andrea Gibbs, founder of Victim's Voice says she is pushing the Justice Department to do an additional autopsy and investigation.

"I can't wait for them to do it, so I'm getting a pathologist to do another autopsy. It am still pushing the Justice Department," she said.

Walker wrote a letter to his mother, Pearlie Lock, a few weeks ago asking her to get a court order to have him moved back to Hancock County.

"He said his life was in jeopardy and felt like they were going to do something to him. The letter went on to say that, 'I'll be O.K. right now, but please get me out of here. I'm in trouble because I can't trust some of these officers,'" said Gibbs.

Walker was sentenced from Hancock County on May 18, 1992, to a six year sentence for possession of drugs and delivery of drugs.

"He would have been up for parole review for possible early release in October," said Ken Jones, director of public relations for the Department of Corrections.

Jones said if Walker was not paroled in October, the end of his sentence would have been November 1994.

"In November 1994, he would have flat-timed his sentence, able to

One injured in explosion

BY LIZ HAAS

A structural fire in east Hancock County Wednesday morning left Marcus Griffin, 34, in guarded condition at Hancock Medical Center ICU and a house burned to the ground.

"He was in the house at the time of the explosion and received severe trauma to the face," said County Fire Marshal Richard Pate.

He said, "They did surgery on his face at 2 a.m., following the explosion."

The structure fire started at 12:06 Wednesday morning at 1209 Hollywood Drive, east Hancock County.

Pate said it is undetermined what caused the explosion.

"We called in the County Haz-Mat team because we heard there was some type of chemicals in there, but we were not sure exactly what we were dealing with," said Pate.

Schaeffer, Stone outline $100 mil Hancock casino complex to council

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

Ben Stone, a Gulfport attorney representing developers of the proposed Mississippi Landing casino complex, told Bay St. Louis councilmen on Monday that "technically, we feel 100 percent comfortable" concerning the ability of the site selected for the complex to meet state requirements for dockside gambling.

Casino developers selected a site on a lake near I-10 and Hwy. 603 on Jourdan River that some officials said they felt would not qualify as a dockside gambling site.

Stone said developers "believe in this project" and hired what he termed "the finest experts in the U.S." to obtain opinions about the qualification of the site. He said their research shows that the west bank of the Jourdan south of I-10 is actually the west bank of the Bay.

Stone said that as soon as the site selection is approved by state gaming officials, casino officials will take steps to begin construction. He said that, if all goes smoothly, approval should come in about a month, and that construction would then take about 10 months.

He asked the council to adopt a resolution, saying they support the project.

The council told him they would.

Stone, and later Glen W. Schaeffer, former president of Circus Circus casino complex in Las Vegas and one of five partners in the Mississippi Landing project, outlined what they said would be a major, long-term investment in the Gulf Coast gambling market.

Schaeffer said the company has the capital to complete a turnkey job on the project, worth $100 million. The complex would be totally self-contained, with its own waste water treatment facilities.

He said the development would not be brought on line in phases but would open up all at once, with all attractions fully

County supervisors abandon part of Beach Road

BY LIZ HAAS

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors approved the abandonment of that part of Beach Road south of Shipyard Road to Bayou Caddy to Bayou Caddy Casino in a Monday public hearing.

"The petitioners have asked that portion of the beach road be abandoned," said Gerald Gex, board attorney.

"The road will still be a public road. We plan to elevate the road to keep the water off it and raise it on the sides for parking," said George Baxter of Bayou Caddy Casino.

He said, "This is going to be an improvement for you."

"I understand the casino needs that road, but I would like to see the public get something in return for abandoning the road so we have access to Bayou Caddy," said Milton Beckendorff, whose family moved into the area in 1950.

The board also approved to give assurances to the property owners on the south side of Bayou Caddy that in need of access, the county will do whatever is legally required to assist them in obtaining access to the bayou.

Beckendorff asked, "So, we can come back to you at a later date and the county will work with us?"

"Yes. We will make sure you have access to the bayou," said Gex.

In other news, A.L. Franklin, Hancock County Parks Commission director, addressed the Road use denied

Casino Magic officials refuse use by Cedar Point developers

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

Casino Magic officials have told developers of a newly proposed casino complex planned for the Cedar Point area along North Beach Boulevard they can't use Casino Magic Drive as an access route.

In addition, Magic officials told developers not "to represent that you plan to negotiate for such use in the future."

The firm statements denying use of Casino Magic Drive to the new developers came in a July 15 letter from Len Krick, Casino Magic vice president of planning and development, to Sheldon T. Fleck of Minneapolis, Minn., sole owner and board member of Gaming Corporation of America-Bay St. Louis, Inc., the company proposing to build the Cedar Point casino.

A copy of the letter was sent to the Bay St. Louis City Council, and council president James Thriffliey III read the letter at the council meeting on Tuesday night.

Several residents from the Cedar Point community, who attended the council meeting, applauded after Thriffliey read the letter.

OBITUARIES

MELVIN GALLOWAY SR. DENNIS C. STANBRO

Melvin Galloway Sr., 81, of Bay St. Louis, died Monday, July 19, 1993, in Wiggins. Arrangements are incomplete at J. T. Hall Funeral Home in Gulfport.

DENNIS C. STANBRO

Dennis Charles Stanbro, 67, of Gulfport died Sunday, July 18, 1993, in Biloxi.

Mr. Stanbro was a native of Aurora, Ill., and had lived in Gulfport since 1944. He was the owner of Stanbro Construction Company and served in the Merchant Marine in World War II. He was a member of St. James Catholic Church in Gulfport and a member of the Elk's Lodge in Gulfport. He was listed in the Who's Who in America and the Who's Who in Mississippi, both in 1974 because of his efforts in rebuilding the Coast in the aftermath of Hurricane Camille. He was on the staff of former Gov. Bill Waller.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Norman A. and Hanna Stanbro; and a sister, Mary Clewell.

Survivors include his wife, Esther Hall Stanbro of Gulfport; two sons, Norman A. Stanbro II of Gulfport, and Dennis Eugene Stanbro of Waveland; a daughter, Debra Alice Stanbro of Los Angeles; a brother, Norman Lee Stanbro of Pass Christian; a sister, Laura Marsh of Phoenix, Ariz., and eight grandchildren.

Visitation was Tuesday evening at Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Wednesday at St. James Catholic Church.

Correction

Debbie Alford of Farm Bureau Insurance was inadvertently named in a list of participants in a recent fund-raiser for Muscular Dystrophy Association held at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis. Alford did not participate in the event.

Roche receives religious award

Carrie Roche was recently presented the "I Live My Faith Medal" by Bishop Joseph Howze at the Cathedral of the Blessed Virgin Mary during a Girl Scout Catholic Religious Awards program.

The program is designed to help Junior Girl Scouts appreciate more deeply the place that God and religion occupy in their daily lives.

Carrie was one of 31 Girl Scouts to receive awards, but the only one from Hancock County.

She is a member of Troop 404 of Waveland and attends St. Clare Catholic Elementary. She is the daughter of Gary and Janet Roche.

Card of Thanks In Memoriam

The family of Joseph Adolph wishes to thank all the people who were concerned with the long illness of his life and death, all who sent prayers, cards, flowers and others.

We would like to give special thanks to the staff at the dialysis center for their devoted concern.

Special thanks goes to Doctors Lanier and Wood and the VA, who for many years gave him the best of care.

We also thank the staff at Gulfport Memorial Hospital and Mobile Medic. I would like you to know he appreciated you all.

Thoughts for meditation—I don't mean to say I am perfect. I haven't learned all I should even yet, but I keep working toward that day when I will finally be all that Christ saved me for and wants me to be.

—Philippians 3:12
Father, thank You for the hope within me that every day I can be closer to what You would have me to be. Please keep me faithful to the task. Amen.

Submit to God and be at peace with Him; in this way prosperity will come to you.

To Those I Love and

Those Who Love Me
When I'm gone, release me, let me go...

I have so many things to see and do.

You mustn't tie yourself to me with tears, be happy that we had so many years.

I gave you my love, and you can only guess how much you gave to me in happiness.

I thank you for the love you each have shown, but now it's time that I travel alone.

So grieve awhile for me, if grieve you must, then let your grief be comforted by trust.

Bless your memories with your heart...

It's only for awhile that we must part.

I won't be far away, for life goes on... so if you need me, call, and I will come.

Though you can't see me or touch me, I'll be near...

and if you listen with your heart, you'll hear all of my love around you, soft and clear.

And then, when you must come this way alone...

I'll greet you with a smile, and welcome you home.

We'll always love you operational.

He added that the project would be completed at no cost to the county, and the company would construct a four-lane highway into the complex at no cost to local taxpayers.

Schaeffer said the casino would seek to attract middle income clients with a family-oriented environment. He said that in such a casino design families could visit them and never step foot in the casino. Schaeffer said he and his four partners own casinos in Nevada that show the highest profit margins of any casinos operating there. He said what the company will create in Mississippi is a "resort destination."

"The challenge is to create a place at which to play and stay," he told councilmen.

He said his company was proposing the largest investment of any casino group in the state of Mississippi.

He said the proposed 542-room hotel would be the largest in the state and the square footage devoted to gambling would be the greatest in the state, surpassing the Grand.

It would be played on a replica of a paddle wheel steamboat next to the development, charts presented by Schaeffer and Stone showed.

However, Schaeffer said there would be far more nongambling entertainment and facilities on land than on the gambling vessel. He said there would be a theme street, high concept restaurants and a dinner theater in the round.

In addition, a marina would allow access to the facility by pleasure boats.

"We have the ability to pay for this development right now," Schaeffer said, adding, "We are ready to proceed upon permission of the state."

Stone said the facility would be a major convention center.

He said the facility would include meeting rooms, banquet facilities and an amphitheater for Las Vegas-style shows and promotions.

But Schaeffer pointed out entertainment at the complex will be geared toward families.

Schaeffer said the facility poses no threat to Casino Magic and the revenue that Bay St. Louis receives from it. He said studies his company had done shows that when a first-class operation locates near another one, both see more business.

He said weekenders, tourists who spend the weekend, on the average visit four different casinos during their vacation.

Added Stone, "This complex does not interfere with anyone; it does not displace anyone. It will be a really first-class development put in by first-class people and developers. You can ask anyone anything about these people, and they will tell you they are nothing but first-class."

Stone said the facility will become a "major tourist destination."

He said total jobs during the construction phase would be about 6,000 and permanent jobs of 2,983 after construction is completed.

He said conservative estimates place first-year tax payments to the state of $16 million. "We feel that is a very conservative figure. We are banking on it being much higher," Stone said.

He said first-year taxes to Hancock County are conservatively estimated at $8.1 million. He said the school system stands to gain about $616,000 in taxes the first year.

"These people (the developers) are doers," said Stone. "They are ready, and they have been very open and honest with everything that has been done so far."

He said the company has an option on 600 acres at the site.

He also said company officials would insist those who build the facility use "local people" wherever possible.

Schaeffer said that some of the reasons his company chose the site was because of safety, its proximity and easy access from I-10 and the clean environment. He said traffic counts show there is slightly more traffic along I-10 than on I-15 between Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

He told councilmen he felt the Mississippi Gulf Coast was positioned strategically and timely to reap the benefits provided by the gambling industry, and that with the state's head-start, Mississippi will be a major player in the market.

He said possible gambling developments in New Orleans and Mobile by Louisiana and Alabama would not affect Mississippi's growth.

"Mississippi is very well positioned to steal the whole show," said Schaeffer. "You have an inherent advantage with dockside gambling in Mississippi. The time is now to create an entertainment destination. Do it now and create customer loyalty."

Stone told the council community support for the proposed development is critical, and he requested that persons interested in expressing their support for the project write or contact the Mississippi Gaming Commission, P.O. Box 23577, Jackson MS 39225-3577, FAX 354-6025.

Groundbreaking set for HMC D'head clinic

Groundbreaking ceremonies will be Monday, July 27 at 10 a.m. for Hancock Medical Center's Diamondhead Clinic.

The HMC board of trustees awarded the contract last week to Beacon Construction of Biloxi for a winning bid of $207,933, according to hospital administrator Don Henderson.

The facility, which will be staffed by private physicians in family practice, will be located on Gex Drive between the nursing home and St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

In addition, bids will go out in August for an expansion project at the Bay St. Louis located Hancock Medical Center's outpatient clinic offering diagnostic procedures and same day surgery.

ON PATROL

SEXUAL BATTERY

William Chapman III, 51, of Waveland was arrested 11 a.m. Wednesday and charged with sexual battery, reported Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell.

"An affidavit was signed by a 16-year-old boy and his stepfather alleging that on July 20, Chapman held a gun to the boy's head, forcing him to perform oral sex on him," said Varnell.

Chapman is being held in the Hancock County Justice Facility under a $5,000 bond.

His initial court appearance was set for July 29, at 2 p.m. in Waveland city court.

AUTO THEFT

Bay St. Louis Detective Tom Burleson reported two arrests were made in the July 17 burglary of an auto in the Casino Magic parking lot.

Kenneth James Martin, 26, of Waveland, was arrested July 20 at 12:10 p.m. and charged with burglary of an auto.

Gordon Dale Hoda, 18, of Waveland was arrested July 21 at 11:39 a.m. and charged with burglary of an auto.

The two, out on bond, were being held under a $5,000 bond each. Items taken in the burglary were a car stereo, amplifier and cassette tapes.

Burleson was the arresting officer and is in charge of the investigation.

board concerning the bridge on Spruce Street, that has an existing 19-foot span.

"We need a minimum of a 57-foot bridge to solve the problem with the bulk case," he said. "Also, it was built too high and we need to decrease the elevation that is a sight hazard."

Franklin said the project would cost approximately $45,000.

"I would like to replace the structure and drop the elevation about three feet," he said.

Franklin said it must be determined what type of elevation needs to be maintained for the kind of boats going through the canal.

He asked Supervisors Wilmer Seymour to make a survey on what type of boats need to go through the bridge.

The board approved for Franklin to proceed with the Spruce Street bridge plans.

Supervisors Robert Peterson discussed traffic problems that may arise when Bayou Caddy Casino begins its operation.

"We know we're going to have a problem with the intersection of Lower Bay Road and Lakeshore Road," he said.

Peterson said the board should look into the present four-way stop light and decide the best way to handle that intersection.

Franklin suggested waiting until the casino opens to see how much traffic there will be.

Fire

Pate said they contacted the Environmental Protection Agency and received word at 1 p.m. Wednesday they could begin putting the fire out.

"The fire was basically under control within 45 minutes after fire fighters arrived on the scene," said Pate, "But we had to back off because we were not sure what type of chemicals we were dealing with."

The County Fire Marshal's Office is working in cooperation with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, the State Fire Marshal's Office and the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau.

The case is presently under investigation.

"We hope to be able to get out there today to do the investigation, if it is cool enough," said Pate.

Fire Departments that responded were the East Hancock, Bay-side Park, Bay St. Louis and the Waveland Fire departments.

Wambsgans earns MD

Pass Christian native Sal Joseph Wambsgans received an MD degree from the University Medical Center in Oxford.

Wambsgans, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fabian E. Wambsgans, will intern in medicine/emergency medicine at University Hospital in Jackson.

He earned a bachelor of arts degree in 1978 and a masters degree in 1980 from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Wambsgans is married to the former Nancy Ann Caruso of Bay St. Louis. They have three children, Joseph, John and Jamie.

"Once we get a traffic count, we can work with it if we need to," he said.

Hancock County Civil Defense director Bobby Boudin requested the board submit a letter of thanks to Casino Magic Corp. for the $50,000 radar system they donated to Hancock and Harrison counties.

"I would like you to tell them that it is installed, working good and that we appreciate it," said Boudin.

The board approved Boudin's request.

The board agreed to meet Wednesday to review the budget, due August 15.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Hardly a week goes by that someone doesn't mention something to me about vehicles with only one headlight.

It appears there is a disease in Hancock County of one-headlight vehicles, and some may be trying to spread it around the country.

I received word from a Waveland resident who was traveling on Highway 59 in Alabama during a rain-storm and passed a vehicle with a Hancock County tag.

When she had passed the vehicle she looked into her rear view mirror and saw only one headlight on.

It seems that car should have passed some State Trooper before reaching Alabama!

I guess the word is spreading to other states that you can drive a vehicle in Hancock County with only one headlight operational.

Somebody has to wake up one of these days. When that will be, your guess is as good as mine.

Since I use the walking track frequently, I keep having folks asking if someone is going to do something about the grass taking over on the asphalt.

I spoke with Bay Mayor Eddie Favre on Monday, and he told me that Bay St. Louis was going to repair some of the bad sections within the next couple weeks.

I am glad to hear this news. As many of you know, Bay St. Louis came through this year and did the asphalt parking lot which was very much needed.

I do know, too, the county has recently addressed the fire ant population with a good spraying.

This appeared to have cut down somewhat on the number of hills for the time being.

It is hard to fight fire ants with the limited sprays and baits that are approved.

The walking track is still popular and probably would be used by more folks if necessary improvements were made.

Congratulations are in order for the Bay St. Louis Girls Senior (13-15) All-Star Softball Fast Pitch state champions.

This was the first time for a 13-15 team from Bay St. Louis to win the state championship.

The state champs will journey to Houghton, La. on Monday to compete in a sectional tourney. I wish them the best of luck.

The Bay St. Louis All-Stars 9-10 and 11-12 are also to be congratulated, as they were runner-ups in the state tourney held last weekend.

There are many players, coaches, managers and sponsors who should be commended on a fine Bay St. Louis 1993 Softball season.

You should be very proud of all those who represented your respective teams in the All-Star tournament.

Many of the players will be back next season, and who knows, they may be an All-Star representative then. Keep up the good work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Children deserve top priority in school system

Dear Editor,

Who's on first base? I don't know, but who's on second. No, who's on first?

I give up — I'm confused. Who is on first? And after you answer that question, tell me who's the most important person in the school district?

Is it the kindergartner needing guidance and a good start? Or the senior excited about graduation? Maybe it's the bus driver with so many lives in her hands, or that dedicated coach working long hours with low pay.

It's probably that English teacher with so many papers to read, edit and grade. No, it's the math teacher worrying over test scores and counting sheep at night.

Then there's the principal with so many responsibilities — an awesome job. Oh, yes, what about the superintendent? Is the highest paid employee also the most important? If so, does an overwhelming 9 percent or 10 percent pay increase raise the level of importance? It seems that the Hancock County superintendent thinks this way.

So tell me, who is the most important person in any school district? Can we say that we are all important, each in a different way? I think so.

Stop and think about the many operations and personnel in a district. Why are we there? We are there for the kids. All our decisions should revolve around the educational success of those kids.

Should anyone claim to be the most important one? Let me say yes. It's your first grader, my seventh grader, and the neighbor's fifth grader! It's that little kindergartner needing guidance and a good start. There's no price on that kind of importance.

I hope every educator (and parent) in the county reads this letter. Then we can all stop laughing at ridiculous statements like the one recently made by the Hancock County superintendent, when she suggested that she is the most important person in the district.

Who's on second? I don't know, but who's on first. Help!

There's no easy way to respond to people who play political games with power, position and pay. Maybe eventually they'll strike out.

Owner wants dead dog's collar returned

Dear Editor,

Saturday afternoon on July 10, my beautiful German Shepherd got out of her fenced yard for a short while. In a very short time, a friend notified me that my dog was laying on the grass in front of a Highway 90 business. She was still warm when I got there. Some kind person placed her there, and I wish to express my sincere thanks.

Would the person who killed my dog please return her collar to me? It has no real value to anyone except to my family and myself. You can bring it to the Humane Society Flea Market on the corner of Drinkwater Blvd. and Hwy. 90.

If you desire, I will buy you a brand new dog collar, no questions asked. What reason would anyone have for taking a dog collar off a dying or dead dog?

Don't you feel enough guilt for killing my German Shepherd? Need you add insult to injury by stealing her collar?

This is not the first instance of collars being stolen from dogs hit on the highway. I cannot understand why this is happening. Would you please return the collar to me. No questions will be asked.

Thank you,
Mrs. Teresa Perniciaro

Waveland Fire Dept. camp benefitted youths

To the Editor,

I would like to commend all the firemen and volunteers of the Firefighter Mini-Camp at Waveland Fire Department.

My children and many others (over 90) attended the two-day camp at no charge.

These people successfully blended learning and fun activities. All the children I talked with were thrilled with the smokehouse that simulated what it would be like to escape their home in a fire.

The children learned fire safety, how to use fire equipment, bicycle safety, and were fingerprinted.

One of my children asked me why we didn't have smoke detectors in our home. Another mother told me her child reminded her to unplug the iron.

Maybe something these children learned will one day save their lives. Maybe they inspired a young child to be a fireman. At the least they provided children with summer boredom two days of fun activities.

Waveland Fire Department, I commend you all. I hope you continue with this camp in summers to come. I also hope it will prompt others with something to teach our young children to do so.

When Senate GOP leader Bob Dole sent out notice to all his pals that he had planned a $1,500-a-ticket "Kansas Boat House Cruise" from Mount Vernon to Alexandria, Va. on a foreign-owned luxury cruise liner, he overlooked an important detail — it's illegal.

The law isn't new. It's more than 100 years old. But the Senate leader somehow overlooked the 1886 law that forbids foreign-flag vessels from transporting passengers between ports in the United States. The second law he may have violated, the Passenger Notification Act, requires that all promotional literature soliciting passengers in the U.S. must mention which country the vessel is registered in.

These laws were enacted by Congress to protect America's shipping interests. In plain and simple terms, this careless act jeopardizes the productivity of American shipyards and American shippers and threatens American jobs.

I cannot put into words my surprise, as a member of the House Merchant Marine Committee, to learn a leading member of Congress had so much disregard for America's shipbuilding industry and for America's workers. Not only was the 494-foot seven-deck, 255 cabin, luxury cruise liner Scandinavian owned, but the Crown Monarch was also Panamanian-flagged, and if that's not enough, it was built in Spain.

It was only after the Washington press corps found out about the "illegal fundraiser cruise," that the Senator changed his tack. The U.S. Customs Service was tipped off by the media, who then called the Senator to inform him that if he did lease a foreign-owned ship, he would run amuck of the law.

Unable to get around the law, the Senator then searched in vain for a U.S.-built,

U.S.-owned and U.S.-flag cruise ship to carry his friends up and down the Potomac River, thereby doing exactly what the law was intended to do — reserve U.S. commerce for American built and crewed ships and bolster America's shipping interests.

Unfortunately for the Senator and his campaign contributors, he had to settle on the Dandy, a 100-foot, 200-passenger dinner boat. You've probably seen the Dandy when in Washington. It is a great vessel for viewing the monuments at night while motoring on the Potomac.

But it is no ocean-going cruise ship. The Dandy lacks the pool, the live Broadway musicals and the luxurious cabins. Too bad. If he had wanted an ocean-going American-flag cruise ship, he would have only been able to choose from two. Yes, there are only two American-flag luxury liners in the entire world.

I hope every guest invited to the fund-raiser will ask, "What happened to the elegant foreign-built Crown Monarch promised in the brochure?"

Just maybe some of the lawmakers on board who are seldom concerned until something directly affects them will look at their legislative agendas and also ask why there aren't more American-flag cruise ships and commercial vessels on the high seas.

If they cared about America as much as many of them say they do, they will discover that our commercial shipping interests have been neglected by Congress for much too long.

Hopefully, those who have failed to see the thousands of shipyard jobs lost in recent years will open their eyes and see the warning signs. If we do not take an about-face in our policies and thinking in the near future, an entire industry will be crippled beyond repair.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Cochran praises commission to keep homeport open

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran says he is pleased the Base Closure Commission voted to keep Pascagoula Navy homeport open.

"I believe the commission acted wisely, based on the facts concerning Pascagoula Navy Base," the senator commented.

Later today or this weekend, the commission is expected to vote on the future of Meridian Naval Air Station, which the Pentagon and Defense Secretary Les Aspin recommended by closed down.

"Both Meridian and Pascagoula have fought hard and well to convince the commission to keep our base and our homeport open," Cochran said.

"Our state should be very proud of the tremendous job these towns have done to save our bases.

"We have always been ready to do our part to defend our country, and we remain a very important part of the nation's defense," Cochran said of Mississippi and the effort to save the bases at Pascagoula and Meridian.

Earlier this month, Cochran testified before the Base Closure Commission.

Road

ter. Residents there are gearing up to oppose development of the newly proposed casino along North Beach Boulevard.

They charge the casino will destroy the quality of life along the quiet neighborhood bordering the Bay.

In the letter, Krick told Fleck that Casino Magic Road was a private road constructed with private capital and was already heavily used by Casino Magic patrons.

"Short of closing access to Beach Boulevard, there is no practical way to defer casino customers from using it as the primary access."

—Krick

"At this point, with only two lanes, the road can barely handle the peak traffic loads currently being generated," Krick wrote.

Krick also said that because of the unsafe conditions of Felicita Street and Engman Avenue, Beach Boulevard would be "the only viable access" to the newly proposed casino site. However, he said developers should consult North Beach Boulevard residents for input.

"Our goal is to keep commercial development out of residential neighborhoods, and I am very pleased that Casino Magic has spoken up."

—Dutton

Krick said Casino Magic's experience shows patrons will take the most direct and convenient route to a newly constructed casino and will disregard signs and lights directing them otherwise. He told Fleck the most direct route to his newly proposed Cedar Point casino would be Beach Boulevard.

Krick wrote that the scenic view along Beach Boulevard would further entice patrons to take that route.

"Short of closing access to Beach Boulevard, there is no practical way to defer casino customers from using it as the primary access," wrote Krick. Krick also suggested that Fleck consult Cedar Point residents concerning the matter of access to his proposed casino and "take their wishes into account."

Krick continued: "We can tell you that the residents do not want the volume of bus, car, motor home, delivery truck, construction truck and heavy armored car traffic, that a large-scale casino operation (generates), passing through their peaceful neighborhoods or traveling past their elementary schools. Our first-hand experience with residents of Felicita Street has alerted us to their sensitivity."

Krick concluded: "Casino Magic's mission has been to co-exist with Bay St. Louis, a unique small town, while creating a high-volume attraction, without changing the basic character of the town, nor interfering/intruding in their daily lives. We challenge you to do the same, now that we are part of the lives you will affect."

Peggy Dutton, spokesman for Friends of Bay St. Louis, which opposes commercial development in residential areas and who attended the council session, said that "the letter was very sensitive to the concerns of Bay residents."

"I think it will help," she said. "Our goal is to keep commercial development out of residential neighborhoods, and I am very pleased that Casino Magic has spoken up."

"It is not the first time that Casino Magic has spoken up to help protect our neighborhoods. They have done so in the past," she added. "I hope they will continue supporting the protection of our neighborhoods."

In other matters, the council: —Authorized expenditure of $2,500 to put on a July 31 reception for the nationally televised

Miss Teen pageant based in Biloxi. Mayor Eddie Favre said Bay St. Louis stands to garner national TV publicity in hosting the reception here.

—Authorized a $500 donation for the Little League Senior Division state championship 13 to 15 year old team to help with travel expenses to Haughton, La., for the sectional tournament.

—Took no action on joining a waste management district with Waveland and Hancock County. The councilmen indicated they wanted to meet with representatives of Waveland and Hancock County before inking any agreement. The council was briefed on the agreement by attorney Donald Rafferty. City Attorney John Scaife was absent. City officials said he was ill. Rafferty told councilmen he felt the agreement was vague in some sections and he felt the council should request a workshop session with Waveland and Hancock County officials before making a decision on the matter.

—Told residents attending the meeting that developers of a proposed casino at Cedar Point had cancelled a Wednesday meeting with the council, saying they needed more time to prepare for the meeting, about 60 days.

—Recessed to Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

walk out of the prison gate without any further supervision. "The total time he would have been required to serve under law for his sentence, assuming there were no problems, would be a total of two and one-half years," said Jones.

"His death was apparently a result of hanging himself," said Jones.

An officer, during a routine check of the building where Walker was housed, Unit 31, Building D, found Walker sitting on his bunk bed leaning forward Saturday morning.

Jones said medical officials were called in Saturday morning at 12:35 a.m. and found Walker had a cord fashioned out of braided pieces of sheet, attached to the window control panel and wrapped around his neck.

"He was in a seated position and apparently leaned forward to hang himself," said Jones.

Jones said there was an inquest later Saturday morning by Sunflower County coroner.

Walker's body was then transferred to the State Morgue in Jackson where an autopsy was performed.

Jackson pathologist Rodrigo Galvez determined the cause of death asphyxia by hanging. Galvez reportedly found a note in Walker's clothing listing people who should be questioned if anything happened to him.

"I do not have any information on the autopsy or know any of the findings in the autopsy," said Jones.

Gibbs, a friend of Walker's mother, founded Victim's Voice in 1989 after being fired from the Harrison County Youth Detention Center for blowing the whistle on officers whom she had documented proof were beating up on children in the center.

She has been working with the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and has asked for an investigation from the Justice Department. Victim's Voice hotline is 896-7778.

Walker's body was picked up by J.T. Hall Funeral Home of Gulfport Sunday afternoon. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The Department of Corrections is conducting an investigation of Walker's death, as well as the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol Office and the FBI's civil rights investigations division.

"AFTER HOURS"

The Diamondhead Business and Professional Association After Hours invites you to the Hancock Bank in Diamondhead Thursday, July 22 from 5-7 p.m. for refreshments, prizes and good socializing with your business neighbors and friends. Be sure to bring lots of your business cards.

YOUNG ACHIEVER

Donald and Brenda Smith are the very proud parents of a new Eagle Scout.

Their son Shay received this high honor at a ceremony held at the Bay St. Louis American Legion Post July 19. A reception followed for friends, family and Scouts.

Congratulations, Shay!

ATTENTION, SENIORS

We had six ladies on our bus heading for the Bay St. Louis Senior Citizens Center last Friday where they enjoyed good company, made crafts and ceramics and had a nice hot lunch they say is always good.

There's room on the bus for lots more, so come on along, it's a lot of fun. The bus leaves Diamondhead Dairy Queen at 8:30 a.m. and returns about 1:15 p.m.

If you need a ride to the Dairy Queen, please call Margaret at 255-1317.

LATE SUMMER—EARLY FALL LOOKS

Our good friend Lon Lamendola of L.L. Ltd. in the Diamondhead Plaza shopping center invites her friends, and their friends, to a fashion show luncheon at the Diamondhead Yacht Club Tuesday, July 27, 12 p.m. till.

There will be door prizes, drink specials, and the club's new proprietors Sonja, Patrick and Chef Rice promise a tasty luncheon buffet for your enjoyment.

Lou always has something up her sleeve in new fashions, etc. to tempt our pocketbooks. Sounds like a good place to be next Tuesday.

NOTICE, NOTICE

The Diamondhead Square and Compass Club is asking all Master Masons who live in, or own property in Diamondhead, to please contact E. L. "Al" Herman at 255-9148, or drop him a line at 9511 Pono Street.

The club extends an open invitation to all Master Masons to visit with them at their next meeting.

All you need is your Blue Lodge membership card indicating that you are in good standing with your Blue Lodge. No questions asked.

Masonry is a universal fellowship which conciliate those of every sect and opinion; one of the prime creators and protectors of all of our religious, political and social freedoms.

More than a dozen presidents, including George Washington, both Roosevelts, Harry Truman and Gerald Ford have been Masons. Sounds like some good company to be in.

The club is happy to report that president Dan Smith is home and doing well in recovering from open-heart surgery.

Vice president Bill Horner will be going into the hospital this month. Your fellow Masons wish you well and have you in their prayers. The next meeting is Wednesday, August 11 at 3 p.m.

TICKETS... GOING...

Yes, before you know it, tickets to the next Diamondhead Performing Arts Society performance by such a well-known New Orleans jazz great will be gone.

This multi-talented super artist and company are coming to the Diamondhead Country Club on August 15.

Send your checks for $12.50 adult and $9.50 child ticket in a self-addressed stamped envelope to Suite 701, 443 Yacht Club Drive, Diamondhead, Attn. Carol Novak.

You know you want to be in this number. The gentleman's initials are A.T. Remember "Working in the Coal Mine"

NEW OWNERS

New property owners and residents in Diamondhead, please call Marge Deegan at 255-6065 to receive your welcome packet.

STAY TUNED

The Bay Area Chorale is gearing up for another wonderful concert, a repeat of their "Americana" held at Bay High Auditorium recently.

Under the great direction of Joy Mehrtens, these heavenly voices will be striving again to make music pleasing to your ears. Follow this column for the date and time of the next performance.

"LADY" NEEDS A FRIEND

I think all of Diamondhead has heard about "Lady," the wild, beige lab-mix who has had several large litters of pups, and took up residence around the Gex's porch.

After unsuccessful efforts to catch her, including a Have-a-Heart trap and tranquilized food, she was finally brought to ground by a dart gun in the hands of a qualified Hancock County Animal Control officer.

All this was not an easy task, but thanks to a few caring and humane individuals, Lady has now been spayed and is in the process of becoming civilized.

Reports are that she is a young dog with a very sweet disposition and a remarkable constitution. She is being treated for a mild case of heartworms.

Several nice donations for her medical expenses have been received, and more would be welcomed.

A wonderful friend and member of the Diamondhead SPCA is funding her domestication so that she can be adopted.

But right now Lady needs friends, folks who will give about an hour or so a day and visit Lady in her holding pen in Diamondhead. Some interaction, soft sweet talking to her, maybe even some loving pats will help her understand the human race again. She was on the loose and wild for so long. I know there are some animal lovers out there who will help Lady become adoptable. Please call John Wise at 255-7680. Lady needs you!

Nell Frisbie merges with Latter & Blum

Latter & Blum announces the merger of Nell Frisbie, Inc., formerly affiliated with Coldwell Banker with offices in Diamondhead and Bay St. Louis, into the Latter & Blum system.

Frisbie said, "New Orleans is the strongest metropolitan feeder market, and I feel like the benefits and services that Latter & Blum will bring into the table will certainly add to what we can do as an individual company."

"They have things like television advertising and extensive corporate contacts that make it a real win for our area and for theirs," she said.

Frisbie will stay with the company as manager of Bay St. Louis and Diamondhead offices.

Latter and Blum president and owner Bob Merrick indicated his company had been looking at the Gulf Coast for over a year.

The merger was official July 1.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Attention fishermen: It just doesn't get any better than this

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Sorry there was no fishin' report last week. Mrs. Turtle was sick, and this required the full-time attention of the Turtle.

Now that Mrs. Turtle is home from the hospital (and doing better) let me tell y'all the fishin' is nothing short of spectacular all over the place. The only way you are not gonna

The first report is from a long-range fisherman, Roy Ladner of Clermont Harbor. Roy and his wife, Jane, went out to the Chandelier Islands this past week. They report the trip took them about one hour from Bordages boat launch.

They obviously went by boat because no one reported any seaplane landings or take-offs in the area. Maybe they went by delier Islands can be reached, by boat, from Hancock County.

Now that you have heard that you can get to the Chandelier Islands without chartering the Queen Mary, maybe you should take notice of what the Ladners encountered out there on the islands.

According to Roy Ladner, the school of red fish that they saw must have included several hundred. The school was about one quarter mile across. They were on the surface feeding, and, according to Roy, "it was one of the most incredible sights that he has ever witnessed." Jane agreed with that assessment.

Roy managed to land one of the reds, but he lost just about all of the tackle that he had aboard his boat trying to catch others. Seventeen-pound test line was no match for the behemoth reds that the Ladners encountered in the school.

The small red that Roy landed went about 30 pounds. Now if this was one of the smaller reds, you can just imagine how much the others must have weighed.

By the way, Roy said that the bait he used was a green sparkle tail that he got at Bordages.

Many of us "mature" fishermen can remember that there used to be quite a few of these big schools of red fish before they were surrounded by nets and "cleaned out" for "Blackened Red Fish."

The fishermen who are going to Ille La Pierre, Long Point and other areas in the Louisiana Marsh are coming in with their limits of trout and reds. One group that fished the area around Long Point came in with a box of really nice flounders.

Reports from around the Half Moon, Grassy, and Herron Bay indicate that the fish in this area can be called the "early to rise, early to bed" types.

The fish are being caught close to sunrise and close to sunset in these areas. The best bait has been live shrimp.

If you fish this area you should know that both LaF-rance and Bordage have good supplies of live shrimp.

The report of the activity along the seawall and the surf indicates that almost anyone who is willing to get up early can catch fish. I should add to this that anyone willing to stay up late can catch flounders.

According to "Spear Chucker Extraordinaire" Bruce Sellier, Clermont Harbor beach has been a spearer's paradise for the past few nights. Bruce reports that one group was able to spear 15 flounders in an hour and one-half the other night.

He claims that the real low tides that have been occurring right after sunset have been producing the ideal conditions to spear the flat fish.

I said that anyone who gets up early and wade fishes can catch trout. The turtle caught a 29-inch speck in the surf this week. The speck hit on live shrimp fished about 24 inches under a popping cork. The depth of water that he was caught in was about three feet.

Some type of low life "trashed" the Turtle's fishin' pier in Lakeshore on Friday night, July 9. They caused about $600 in damage by tearing out the steps, removing the gate and tearing out about 20 feet of railing. The Turtle is offering a $250 reward, through the Sheriff's Department for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for this damage.

This week's wonderful wise words: This fishin' can't get much better than it is now. So, it's time to go fishin' y'all.

I wonder if they have giant blue fin tuna sharks out by the Chandelier Islands, Turtle?

Roy Ladner holds bull red catch fish is to not go fishin'. The calm winds and smooth water, coupled with the abundance of shrimp and ideal water conditions, have made July the best fish "catching" month of 1993. You will notice that I said "fish catching," and not just fishing.

albatross. No, that can't be right either, because I saw their boat at the boat launch.

Ray and Jane have a nice 22-foot open fishing hull powered by a 175 hp outboard. The reason for all of this discussion of transportation methods is to make the point that the Chan-

SSC hosts Gulf Coast School of Basketball

The 5th annual Gulf Coast School of Basketball will be August 2-6 at St. Stanislaus for grades 3-12.

Girls camp will be each morning from 9 a.m. to noon. Boys camp will be 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. nightly.

Camp directors are Jay Ladner, head basketball coach at St. Stanislaus, and Michael Ladner, assistant women's basketball coach at Memphis State University.

Special guest appearances will be made by Roland Ladner, the winningest high school boys basketball coach in the history of the state of Mississippi, and J. Larry Ladner, a retired basketball specialist in the Department of Coaching and Sports Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Camp fee is $40 for individual campers, $75 for two campers in the same family and $100 dollars for three campers in the same family.

On site camp registration will be from 8-9 a.m. August 2 at the SSC gym for girls and from 4-5:30 p.m. for boys.

Enrollment is limited, and registration can be mailed into Gulf Coast School of Basketball,

P.O. Box 2633, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

For more information, call Jay Ladner (evenings) at 255-3393.

SSC basketball club plans first meeting

The first meeting of the St. Stanislaus Hardwood Club will be Monday, July 26 at 7 p.m. in the conference room at the high school. Officers will be elected at the organizational meeting. Call 467-9057 for more information.

Karate students win regional competition

Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate students competed in Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) National Karate Championships July 2-4.

Some 2,600 competitors were present from 50 states as well as an international team from Venezuela.

Competitors qualified by placing in regional competition. Competition styles included Kemp, Shotokan, Taekwondo, Issahaunryu, American Open Karate, Kyokushinkai and Goshin Jutshu.

Competitors were divided by male, female, age and years of training. They could participate in areas of Kobudo (weapons), Kata (prearranged movement sequences), Kumite (fighting) and Team Kobudo, team kata and team kumite.

USA National AAU team members competed in individual events. The national team has competed in England, Spain and other countries.

Fifteen students from Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate Club in Waveland competed in a variety of categories from beginner to advanced, ages 10 through senior (age 36-44).

Ray Torrence, black belt, placed second in kata and first in fighting.

Ronald Storey, black belt, placed second in kata and fifth in fighting.

Renee Weaver placed first in kata and first in fighting (second consecutive year).

Wade Ladner placed sixth in kata and first in fighting, having won five fights in his division.

Sherri Dubuisson placed fourth in kata and first in fighting.

Becky Storey placed third in fighting in her division.

Linda Adams placed second in kata and second in fighting.

Jay Smith placed third in kata and sixth in fighting.

Other students who placed in the top eight received ribbons. Brandon Weaver was fourth in fighting, Ray Smith, fourth in fighting and Kathryn Norton, eighth in fighting.

Other members of the national team included Neil Norton, Guy Norton, coach, and Debbie Williams.

Renowned composer Toussaint featured at BSLLT

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre director Roy Aultman is proud of his organization's upcoming production of Nunsense II: The Second Coming in which rehearsals are underway.

The first performance of the recently completed sequel to the blockbuster hit Nunsense will be in October. Mary Howard is musical director.

Love Letters will be presented August 13-14 at BSLLT starring Clem Acker and Nan Ehrbright. Details are forthcoming.

Angry Housewives

Gulfport Little Theatre will present the musical comedy "Angry Housewives" for five performances, July 23 and 24 at 8 p.m., July 25 at 2 p.m., then continuing July 30 and 31 at 8 p.m.

Reservations are suggested by calling the box office at 864-7983. Tickets are $9 for adults and $6 for students.

Bored with their everyday workday lives and kept in insignificance by their husbands, these really are four angry housewives. They try a number of things in search of personal fulfillment, but nothing strikes a chord until one of them strikes a chord on her guitar and gets the idea that, well, why don't they form a punk-rock group and enter the upcoming talent show?

Gulfport Little Theatre is located off Pass Road behind Lyles Carpets. This show is for mature audiences only. For details, call the box office at 864-7983.

L'il Abner

The Kinetic Neo-Skene Theatre will present a magical 'cartoon' adaptation of the musical comedy L'il Abner at the Biloxi Saenger Theatre for the Performing Arts on July 23, 24 and 25.

The comedy is based on the Al Capp comic strip, which was a regular weekly feature in newspapers for almost 40 years.

Dyed-in-the-Wool

The works of several local weavers will be on display at the Gulf States Traveling Fiber Show hosted June 30-July 25 at Serenity Gallery, 126 Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

The exhibit is a joint effort by five fiber guilds in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana in celebration of the Year of the American Craft.

Art exhibit

Biloxi art photographer Robert A. Brooks' 18-photograph exhibit, "Sealife, Seashells and Shrimphoats," runs through August 31 at J.L. Scott Aquarium on Point Cadet in Biloxi.

by Don Pennye, Sherman and the Rolling Stones, and Lee Dorsey's "Working in the Coal Mine," also done by the composer himself.

Toussaint's "Southern Night," recorded by Glen Campbell, received special recognition from Broadcast Music Inc. as "The Most Performed Song of 1977."

That same year it was nominated for a Grammy, as well as The Country

Music Association's "Song of the Year." The Nashville Songwriters Association International honored Toussaint's "Creative Genius in Words and Music."

Toussaint has produced, written for and performed with Pat LaBelle, the Pointer Sisters, Bonnie Raitt, The Judds, Robert Palmer, Chris Redding, Three Dog Night, Ringo Starr and Paul Simon.

The diversity of artists who have recorded at his studio ranges from Paul and Linda McCartney to New Edition.

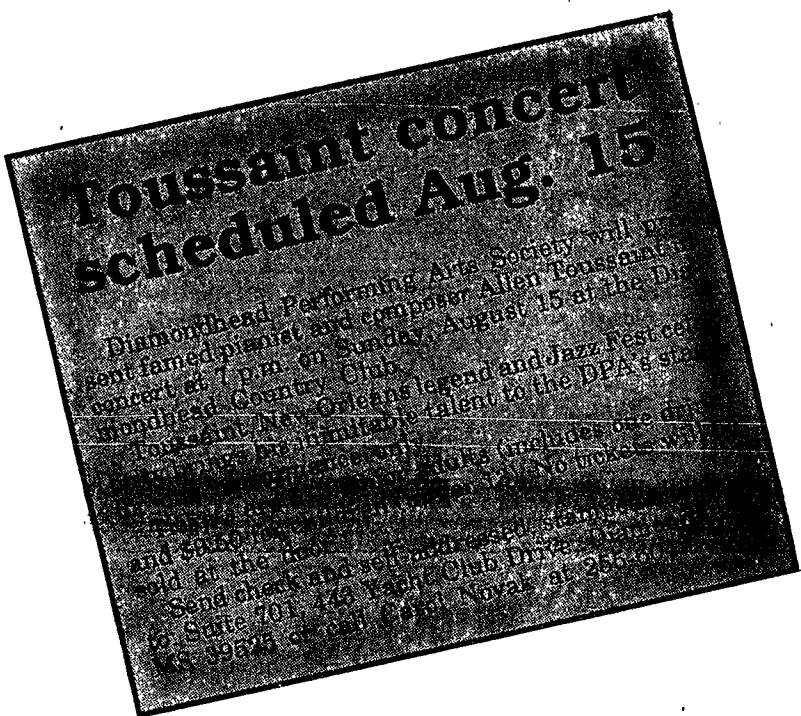

Toussaint wrote words and music for the state play William Christopher and was composer/musical director for (and appeared in) Staggerlee which ended a successful off-Broadway run.

The Music earned the prestigious Outer Critics Circle Award for Best Music in an Off-Broadway Musical of 1986/87.

Once again Toussaint took to the theater stage as composer/musical director for (and appeared in)

Private business to handle Miss. tourism inquiries

The Mississippi Division of Tourism Development has privatized its inquiry/fulfillment services.

"In an effort to become more cost-effective, more responsive and more efficient, we decided on this partnership with the private sector," said George Smith, director of the Division of Tourism in the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development.

"Tourism is good business for Mississippi, a $1.6 billion business annually, employing 45,000 workers in the state. We saw this move to privatize our inquiry and fulfillment effort as a good business move."

The new operation, which opened July 6 in Ocean Springs, is being handled by First American Printing and Direct Mail, a business venture of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians.

In keeping with the state's new tourism slogan, "The South's Warmest Welcome," the inquiry calls will now be answered by personnel rather than an automated answering system (voice mail) as in the past.

Tourism specialists will man the phones from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. (CT) to cover business hours across the country rather than the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (CT) as previously done, and will now be on duty seven days a week instead of five. Calls during non-operating hours will be received by an automated answering service which prompts the caller to supply information needed to fulfill the request.

All inquiries received Sunday through Friday by 3 p.m. will be responded to by mailing information requested within 24 hours. Information from requests received Friday after 3 p.m. and all day Saturday will be mailed on the following Monday.

All domestic requests will be mailed first class; international requests will be sent the most cost-efficient route.

The new toll-free number for requesting tourism information is 1-800-WARMEST. This number is for requesting tourism information to be mailed. All other tourism-related calls should be made to (601) 359-3297.

The new mailing address for requesting tourism information is Mississippi Division of Tourism, P.O. Box 1705, Ocean Springs, Mississippi 39564.

In FY '92 the Mississippi Division of Tourism Inquiry office responded to 75,786 inquiries about the state.

Walker attends NASA workshop

Verna Walker of Pass Christian Elementary completed a NASA Educational Workshop for math, science and technology teachers (NEWEST) this summer, held at the Kennedy Space Center, Fla.

The workshop, co-sponsored by NASA and the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA), is done in cooperation with the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics (NCTM) and the International Technology Education Association (ITEA).

From nearly 900 applicants, 115 NEWEST (primary) teachers were chosen to attend a two-week workshop at one of four NASA centers. Teachers were selected on the basis of background and experience; response to essay questions and letters of support. Participants represented 49 states and Department of Defense school in Germany.

The award included travel to the workshop at a NASA Center where teachers interacted with scientists, engineers and educational specialists and were exposed to the latest in aerospace research and technology.

The space programs present a significant arena for interdisciplinary activity and an opportunity for teachers to update their skills in the integration of math, science and technology into their existing curriculum.

SSC varsity team—1922

Dolores (Dee) Keller Colley of Waveland submitted this photograph of her father, Pierre Emile Keller of Hahnville, La., an end on the St. Stanislaus College 1922 football team. Other players were Walter Reed, Brice Francez, Matthew Montz, Marius Jaubert, Kenneth Welsh, Guy Caire, Cloyd Loewer, Ellis Sylvester, Paul Mutti, Walter Gex, Francis Martin, Stanley Baron, Henry Gossen, Joseph Gossen, Thomas Egan, Adrian Landry, Anthony Schiro, Charles Chassaignac, Fred Welsh, George Cleveland and Lothar Broussard. Forster Commagere was coach. Keller's great-grandsons, Cory and Christopher Ray, are currently students at SSC. They are sons of Jeanne (Colley) Ray of Waveland.

MILITARY MENTIONS

PO2 BROGLE

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Darryl G. Brogle, son of Gertrude A. Duthu of Waveland, recently passed the midway point in a six-month deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, homeported in Norfolk, Va. as lead ship in its battle group.

After more than 100 days at sea, the ship transited the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean Sea to the Red Sea where Brogle is now participating in Operation Southern Watch, enforcing the United Nations-imposed "no-fly" zone over Southern Iraq.

While deployed, elements of the battle group have worked closely with North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies enforcing a United Nations imposed "no-fly" zone over Bosnia-Herzegovina. While operating in the Adriatic Sea, some units also participated in Operation Provide Promise, providing relief supplies to war-torn former Yugoslavia.

The 1981 graduate of Bay Senior High School joined the Navy in November, 1987.

SEAMAN ACKER

Navy Seaman Dorian R. Acker, son of Rose and Walter Acker Sr. of Pearlinton, recently passed the midway point in a six-month deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, homeported in Norfolk, Va. as lead ship in its battle group.

After more than 100 days at sea, the ship transited the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean Sea to the Red Sea where Acker is now participating in Operation Southern Watch, enforcing the United Nations-imposed "no-fly" zone over Southern Iraq.

While deployed, elements of the battle group have worked closely with North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies enforcing a United Nations imposed "no-fly" zone over Bosnia-Herzegovina. While operating in the Adriatic Sea, some units also participated in Operation Provide Promise, providing relief supplies to war-torn former Yugoslavia.

He is a 1991 graduate of Hancock High School.

CPO HERBERT

Navy Master Chief Petty Officer Arthur J. Herbert, whose wife, Gail, is the daughter of Hank J. and Sally Rodrigue of Pass Christian, recently reported for duty as the Command Master Chief at U.S. Naval Hospital, Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico.

The 1972 graduate of St. John High School of Gulfport, joined the Navy in July 1973. Herbert is a 1990 graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D.C. with a BS degree.

SEAMAN DEDEAUX

Navy Seaman Recruit Joshua L. Dedeaux, son of Brenda K. Dedeaux of Pass Christian, recently completed basic training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During the cycle, recruits are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 occupational fields.

He joined the Navy in February, 1993.

Soils, plants change over time

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Time brings change, and sometimes these changes are so slow we hardly notice them. Our yards are undergoing constant change. Consider the trees in your yard.

Just pull out some photographs of your house from a few years ago and notice how much taller and fuller the trees have become.

With tree growth there is increasing shade which means that perhaps the bermudagrass lawn that was once lush has weakened and become sparse as the area of shade increased.

When my pine trees were much smaller and Dr. Hiram Palmertree was a lawn specialist and not director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, he told me to plant zoysiagrass (a shade tolerant grass) where the pines shaded out the bermudagrass. He said as the pine shade expanded so would the zoysia. The process is continuing.

We can't see tree roots grow, but as the tops of trees grow, so do the roots. The soil area from which trees draw water and nourishment increases and the plants that once thrived in that area are fighting for survival just like my bermudagrass.

Often it is better to just give up on trying to grow grass under trees and plant a shade tolerant ground cover or mulch the area.

Gardeners who once had thriving vegetable gardens may wonder why their vegetables aren't doing as well as they once plants may now, several years later, be shading the garden and competing for water.

It is possible that where trees aren't the problem, continued fertilization of a garden site over the years has resulted in a change in soil pH level to a point where the soil is too acid for vegetables. Almost all fertilizers have an acidifying affect on the soil over time.

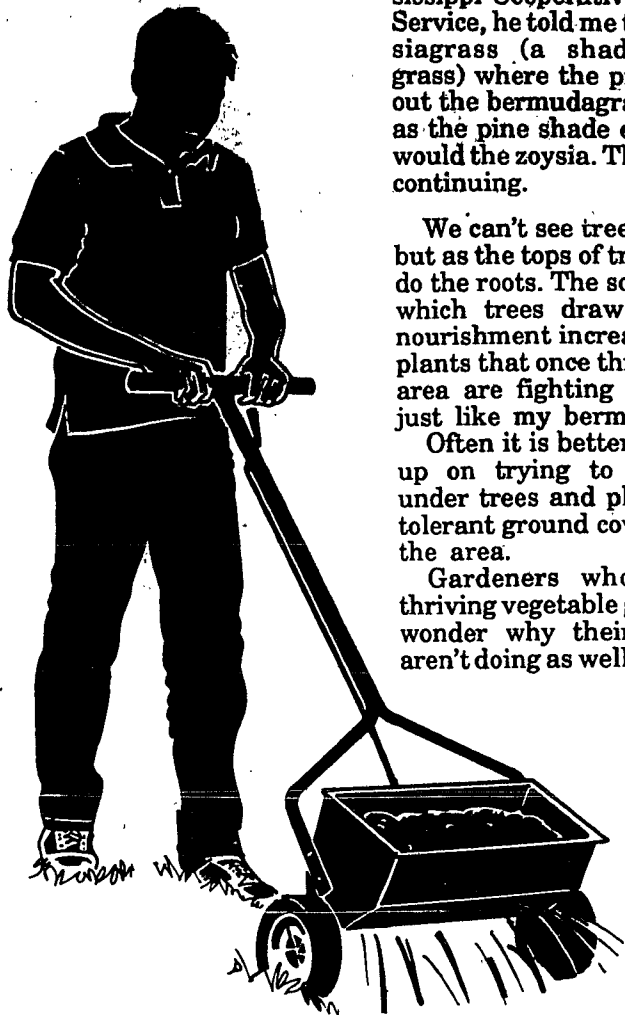

Another change that can take place over time in soil is the depletion of all organic matter when there is no replenishment through mulching or the use of compost.

Compaction from over tillage and traffic also can change the soil. These changes affect plant

Good understory trees like dogwoods become a possibility and redbuds thrive along with azaleas and native rhododendrons.

A number of flower gardeners have asked about plants reverting to an older or simpler form over time. Some of these gardeners claim that years ago they had several different colors of daylilies or irises in the garden and now there are only the old orange daylilies and one color of iris.

Did the plants revert? No, they didn't. The easiest explanation is that the surviving plants are exactly that, survivors — tough plants.

did.

Again, trees that once were small and provided no shade or competition for vegetable growth in a negative way.

As light, soil and moisture conditions change, gardeners often adapt by changing the types of plants they grow. Sun-loving flowering annuals like zinnias, marigolds and petunias are replaced by impatiens, caladiums and coleus.

Perennials like daylilies and iris may still be grown, though perhaps not as successfully, but they can be supplemented with ginger, hostas columbine and many different types of ferns.

Diseases and insects may have attacked the plants over a period of years weakening and finally killing all but the strongest — which in the case of daylilies is commonly the old, orange lily.

It is also possible that the strongest variety outgrew and smothered the other colors. It was a slow process over a period of years that didn't draw much attention until the gardener asked, "what happened to the pretty yellow or pink daylily?"

Choose cotton fabrics for dressing cool

High temperatures, high humidity and lots of sunlight distinguishes the Deep South from many other parts of the country. A goal many residents try to achieve is dressing cool.

The way we dress makes a difference in how we feel. The design of clothing, fabric content and construction, color and accessories can all affect comfort.

Choosing the right clothes can reduce the need for air conditioning — an extra plus in today's energy conscious society. If dressing cooler is your goal, here are some ways to achieve it.

Garment design can play a major role in reducing body heat. Loose fitting garments allow body heat to escape and air to circulate.

These include garments with large necks, armholes and legs; unlined garments; pants that do not require a belt; straight legged pants; and shirts and blouses worn outside.

Fabric construction is also a factor to consider when you want heat to escape. Carefully examine weave, knit and weight of fabric. Hold the fabric toward the light.

If you can see through it, there are air spaces, and it will help you feel more comfortable than heavy fabrics.

Open-weave and open knit garments allow for ventilation. Lightweight fabrics are more comfortable than heavier ones. Smooth-textured fabrics are cooler than rough ones. Shiny fabrics are cooler than dull ones, since they reflect the sun's rays.

The amount of moisture absorbed by the fabric can help reduce body heat. You will feel cooler if your body moisture is absorbed.

If moisture remains on fabric surface you will feel clammy and uncomfortable. A fiber that absorbs perspiration and allows it to evaporate is cooler.

Color makes a difference on summer days outside. White or light colors reflect the sun's rays. Therefore, you will feel cooler. Black and other dark colors absorb the sun's rays, so you will feel warmer.

Clean clothing is cooler than soiled clothing. Body oils and dirt coat the fibers and fill up air spaces, thus preventing ventilation. Absorbency of a garment is reduced, so you will feel warmer.

Cotton has earned the reputation of being the most absorbent fiber, so look for all cotton garments or garments with a large percentage of cotton in them.

Rise and shine.

Helping you off to a good start every morning, no matter how small the task, and making sure you have the energy you need to make the most of every day. That's our bread and butter.

Summer Reading Program saw increase countywide

More than 600 children participated in "Camp Read-A-Lot," the 1993 Summer Reading Program sponsored by the Hancock County Library System.

"This was our most successful summer reading program," said Prima Plaque, library system director.

"We saw a 6.2 percent increase in children registered at all three branches, from 566 to 601, and a 20 percent increase in the number of books read, from 6,725 to 8,139. That means each child read an average of 13 1/2 books over eight weeks."

The City-County branch saw 411 children registered, 5,865 books read, and 274 received certificates for making at least four visits to the library and reading a minimum of six books.

At the Kiln branch, 102 children registered, 1,164 books were read, and 62 received certificates.

The Waveland branch recorded 88 children, 1,110 books read and 60 receiving certificates.

Weekly drawings were held for various prizes. Winners were:

Aerodesign

More than 30 gifted and talented students in grades 7-12 took part in the recent Science Camp at Mississippi State University. Known as Aerodesign '93, the two-week camp involved the design and construction of automobile models. Participants are, from left, Charley Punzo of Biloxi and Jolene Page of Bay St. Louis, along with girls' counselor Penny Sullivan of Starkville and instructors Ben Walker and Lee Walker, both of Hattiesburg. The camp is part of the university's annual Summer Scholars Program.

Wopat attends Gifted Studies

Heather Wopat of Waveland was among 95 students from around the state and region chosen to participate in the 1993 University of Southern Mississippi Summer Gifted Studies Program.

Participants in grades four through eight sharpened cognitive, affective and psychomotor abilities at the residential program June 27 through July 2 at USM's Hattiesburg campus.

Heather, 11, is the daughter of Steve and Diane Wopat.

Acker award

Nicole Lewis, an honor roll student at Bay Catholic Elementary, is the first recipient of the Lucinda Lizana Acker Memorial Award. The third grader is the daughter of Mrs. Yolanda Lewis and the granddaughter of Mrs. Elaine Piernas, both of Bay St. Louis, and the late Roman M. "Buddy" Piernas.

Heitzmann named to dean's list

Named to the Mississippi University for Women honor roll for the spring 1993 semester is Kristy Heitzmann of Bay St. Louis, dean's list.

To qualify for the dean's list, a student must maintain a 3.5 to 3.99 quality point average and be full-time.

'I'm bored'

Tips for avoiding late summer doldrums

With summer winding down, families may be looking for more ideas to keep kids occupied. "I'm so bored," the most dreaded of whines, can be avoided with a little ingenuity.

Look at the world of science that's as close as your fingertips and prick your child's curiosity, suggests Amy Dewys VanHecke, museums educator at The University of Mississippi.

"Children are mystified at things they don't understand and can often be shown or told in very simple but entertaining ways."

VanHecke offers these tips for families to get started on some scientific explorations:

—Learn the names of scientific studies. Begin with a trip to the library for books on astronomy, biology, chemistry, geology and physics, for example. Some books will provide directions for simple experiments that will go far in explaining everyday happenings.

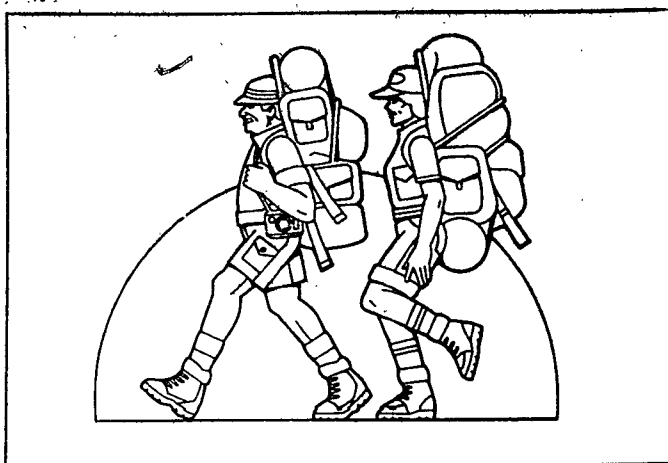

—Take a hike into the woods or walk on a nature trail. Try to find and identify insects, birds, plants and anipensive astronomy chart available in bookstores. Looking skyward, identify constellations, and compare what you can see acceleration machine demonstrates a physics principle, and a xylophone helps one better understand acoustics. Extend star-gazing adventures by location a museum with an observatory telescope.

—Go on a geology field trip. Start by digging in your own backyard for fossilized materials. Call county commissioners or ask at a local library where there are area quarries that often contain geological finds.

Visit national and state parks and learn their geological histories. Inquire at college and university geology departments about the availability of public exhibits.

mals. Discuss animal adaptations, habitats, food and predators. Search for animal tracks. Sit very still, and quietly watch for wildlife like deer, rabbits and squirrels.

—Try star gazing on a clear night. Purchase an inex-with what someone you know who is far away may be able to see.

—Tour a museum. Some museums offer hands-on exhibits. At the University Museums on the Ole Miss Oxford campus, for example, an

Math, science winner

Tommy Cheney, center, receives the math award from Pat Harris, math teacher, and the science award from science teacher Tom Sumrall at Bay High's awards day.

Fountain receives national award

The United States Achievement Academy announced Jessica Fountain as a United States National Award winner in foreign language.

Jessica Fountain

Fountain, who attends Bay High School, was nominated for the national award by French teacher Kathryn MacDowell.

She will appear in the United States Achievement Academy official yearbook, published nationally.

Criteria for selection into the Academy are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Fountain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Fountain of Bay St. Louis and the granddaughter of Claire Dennis of Bay St. Louis and L.J. Fountain of Bay St. Louis.

USM hosts Army School July 26 through Aug. 6

Nearly 500 uniformed Army personnel will gather on the University of Southern Mississippi campus June 21 through July 2 for a two-week military training school.

Active U.S. Army, Army Reserve and National Guard personnel will participate from the U.S. 2nd Army geographic area, which involves the Southeastern United States.

During the summer, USM — for the 27th consecutive year — will host a total of approximately 2,000 uniformed soldier-students. This is the final of four schools held this summer at USM.

Award winner

Terry Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Welch of Long Beach, was named winner of the annual Bausch and Lomb Science Award at Coast Episcopal High School. The bronze medal is presented each year to winners at approximately 6,500 participating schools throughout the United States, Canada and several foreign nations.

Second Public Hearing

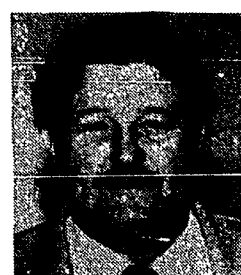

The City of Bay St. Louis is considering applying to the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development (MDECD) for a 1993 Home Investment Partnership Program (HOME) Grant. Citizen participation requirements mandate an initial public hearing in which local input, both verbal and written is gathered.

Also, a second public hearing is required in which the citizenry is informed of the following:

- 1) Type of proposed HOME activities,
- 2) Location of proposed HOME project areas and
- 3) Reasons for selecting activities and project areas.

The purpose of this notice is to inform the citizenry of the scheduling of the SECOND PUBLIC HEARING. The hearing will be held at City Hall Annex on Monday, August 2, 1993 at 10:00 a.m. The above location has been selected because it is accessible to the handicapped.

You have been made defendants in the lawsuit filed in this Court by Gertrude Harrell Eyster, whose address is 1405 Sunset Drive, Sikefield, LA 70460.

The Petitioner filed has initiated a civil action, alleging that Gertrude Harrell Eyster is sole heir at law of Laura Caroline Harrell, AKA Mrs. John William Harrell, deceased, and seeking legal adjudication of the heirs of Laura Caroline Harrell, deceased.

You are required to mail or hand deliver a copy of a written Answer after admitting or denying each allegation in the Petition to Petitioner's attorney, Robert L. Genth, Jr., whose address is 153 Main Street, P.O. Box 70, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

YOUR ANSWER MUST BE MAILED OR DELIVERED NOT LATER THAN THIRTY DAYS AFTER THE 8TH DAY OF JULY, 1993, BY THE CHANCERY COURT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI.

IF YOUR ANSWER IS NOT SO MAILED OR DELIVERED, A JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT MAY BE ENTERED AGAINST YOU FOR THE RELIEF DEMAND IN THE COMPLAINT.

You must also file the original of your Answer with the Clerk of this Court with the time after.

WITNESS MY signature and official seal this 2nd day of July, 1993.
